

ALEXANDRIA, VA.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, JULY 5, 1882.

The Senate has cut down the appropriation for the fees of the physicians who attended the late President to $35,000. If the physicians had wrought a cure there might be some ground for paying them this large sum, but as they did not, and on the contrary, by excluding from the case other been informed by Secretary Chandler that physicians who might have located the ball, and who certainly would not have rammed on that or similar subjects he must do so to a tube more than twelve inches long into the abdominal cavity of the patient, and for scandalous aspersions upon the characthat, too, in a direction entirely different ter of the Empress of China will not be from the course of the ball, there is not only no reason why it should be paid but every reason why it should not. It is said Doctor Bliss should be given a large fee because he getting his bill through for public buildings abandoned all his other practice. But that at Harrisonburg and Abingdon from Mr. is no reason at all; for there was no necessity why, if he had any other practice, he should have done so silly a thing. There was nothing in the possible contingencies of Pennsylvania is to the effect that there will the case that necessitated his continued presence at the bedside of his patient, and State, and that both those factions would the result showed that it could have been prefer democratic success to that of each interrupted by attendance upon such other other. patients as he might have had, without the slightest detriment.

THE ANNIVERSARY of the day on which the American Colonies declared themselves free and independent States was observed able to present any other case better than refused to retract certain charges made yesterday throughout the entire country, with the usual festivities, barring, of course, such as were interferred with by the prevailing inclement weather. The sentiment that inspires the annual celebration of the day is eminently patriotic, but why so practical a people as those of the United States continue to cherish it when they have long since ceased to pay the slightest regard made a report, and it is understood that should they do so it will be an adverse one. to most of the principles contained in the Declaration of Independence, is one of the many anomolies of modern America. There is hardly a governmental grievance set forth in the Declaration that has not been repeated and increased since the people of the country substituted their own for English rule, and yet they persist in hurrahing, exploding powder and throwing up their hats on the 4th of July as if they still possessed the same freedom and indepen- in his assertions that they have parted for dence they achieved a century ago.

THE ENGLISH holders of Virginia bonds are the practical jokers of the season. They met in London yesterday and determined to address a memorial to President Arthur, Adrawing his attention to the facts attending the repudiation of the solemn obligations of the State of Virginia by the Legislature of that State, and praying the assistance of the Federal government to enable the bondholders to vindicate their claim to be reimbursed for the advances," It has long been known that the English people had scant respect for American Presidents, but it was not known until now that they would push that disrespect to a degree that approximates, if it does not reach, the point of positive insult. The English bondholders know as well as everybody else that had it not been for the assistance rendered them by President Arthur the Mahoneites would never have dent Arthur the Mahoneites would never have the that will not be agreeable to the latter, but been able to repudiate the Virginia bonds; and that he will certainly publish it should Mr. B. possessed of that knowledge the memorial referred to is a practical joke, the roughness of which can only be exceeded by its exquisite irony.

ANOTHER ONE of General Mahone's captains has been provided for at the expense of the State. Mr. James Frazier, the man who said the only qualifications his party required for a judge were that he be a readjuster and had once opened a law book, has been made Treasurer of the Virginia Military Institute. Some curious people are desirous of knowing whether Mr. Frazier's ideas respecting treasurers are as broad as those regarding the State judgeships. The Mahoneites are playing such pranks with the State colleges that the probable result will be a great falling off in the number of students at these institutions.

THE FACT that of all the several departments of the Government the Senate, which has a large number of Southern members, alone has some employees who once wore the gray is sufficient to induce the republican majority of a committee of that body to require the Secretary and Sergeantat-Arms thereof to correct the "evil," which means to turn out the men the Southern members represent and fill their places with men from the North. And of such is the unsectionalism of the republican party.

GEN. WALLACE, U. S. Minister to Turkey, was invited to the Sultan's palace yesterday, but his advice in the pending crisis was not asked. The Sultan is evidently a discerning man.

FOREIGN NEW-

It is reported that the Emperors of Austria and Germany will soon meet at Gastein. Count De Lesseps apprehends no danger to the Suez Canal unless the Egyptians are excited by foreign intervention. An informer named Kenny was killed in Dublin yesterday. Twenty arrests were made in Loughrea under the Peace Preservation act. The Irish members of the British House of Com mons yesterday left the House in a body, refusing to participate in the debate on the Coercion bill. The Pope held a consistory yesterday, at which he conferred the cardinal's hat upon Monseigneur Allemand-Lavigerie, Archbishop of Algiers. Fresh arrests have been made during the past few days at St. Petersburg. Among those arrested are two Uhlan officers who were found distributing revolutionary proclamations. One account says these officers were among those specially charged to protect the Emperor. Count Tolstoi has been threatened and is constantly guarded. Additional precautions have been taken at the Peterhof Palace.

FROM WASHINGTON

[Special Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.] WASHINGTON, D. C., July 5.-The House after passing a bill appropriating $100,000 for a public building at Shreeveport, Louisiana, took up the naval appropriation bill at an early hour to-day. Among those who oppose the passage of this bill is Mr. Perry Belmont, who, in a speech to-day, said it was well for the country that it had no navy when Mr. Blaine was Secretary of State. Mr. Robeson favors the abolition of the government navy yards and the 'execution of such work as is now done at them at private yards, and by contract, but whether he will have that idea incorporated in the bill is not known. It is understood that the bill will pass and that Mr. Robeson has secured the votes of southern members by promising to support bills for public buildings in their districts. It is rumored to-day that Alvey A. Adee will be appointed 3d assistant secretary of State, vice Walker Blaine.

Mr. Paul received valuable assistance in Fulkerson who made a speech in favor of it, and all the other Virginia members worked to get the bill the requisite number of votes. The latest intelligence here to-day from be no reconciliation or compromise between

It is positively asserted that Judge Wiley has informed the counsel for the Government in the Star route trials that if they do not have a case ready by to-morrow week Brady's, it is not improbable, therefore, that the notorious Star route cases may come to naught on the day named, and Messrs. Kerr and Bliss will on that day cease to draw the $100 a day they have been draw-

It is understood that when the bill for paying the Gardeld expenses shall come before the House among those who will oppose it will be Mr. Black-burn, and that Dr. Bliss being aware of this fact has searched Mr. P's, record and says he has matpersist in his determination to oppose the bill. isn't at all likely that Mr. Blackburn will be deterred from doing what he thinks is right by any such threats as this

Among the petitions introduced in the House Monday were the following: To pay the claims of Douglass Syphay and other laborers at Alexandria; to give Addison M. Cooper, of the 8th Congress-ional district of Virginia, a pension, and to pay the heirs of Robert Ridgeway, of Virginia, the amount of salary that would have been due him if he had been admitted to Congress when he was elected at the first election held after the war.

Nothing has yet been done towards the re-es-tablishment of fast mails on the Virginia Midland Railway, and it is understood that Postmaster General Howe is not so much in favor of it as he was, or else has been too much occupied with other matters to give it the attention it deserves. The B. & O. R. R. Co. has established a savings bank for the sole benefit of its employees, paying them four per cent interest upon deposits and lending them money with which to build houses at six per cent.

ROBBERY AND PROBABLE MURDER IN ALBEMARLE.—A gentleman from Albemarle arrived in the city yesterday and reported

Monday night about 9 o'clock two white men, supposed to be strangers, entered the store of Mr Stephen D. Mayo, who lives in Albemarle county, about eight miles from Scottsville, on the Monticello road. The men made several insignificant purchases, and while Mr. Mayo was waiting upon them one of the party drew a pistol and fired upon him, the ball taking effect in the head near the eye, inflicting a serious and probably fatal wound. Mr. Mayo fell senseless to the floor and the men proceeded to rob the money-drawer of its contents. It was known that Mr. Mayo kept a considerable quanity of money in the store, but fortunatey he did not keep it all in any one place. He had no safe, but he deposited his money in different places about the house for safe-keeping. By this means the robbers were prevented from securing as heavy booty as they expected. Leaving the wounded mad lying insensible upon the floor, the men made off without exciting any alarm. After awhile Mr. Mayo returned to consciousness and succeeded in securing assistance. His condition is very critical, and the worse is feared as to future consequences,

One of the men engaged in this dark work is supposed to be the notorious Albemarle murderer, James Rhodes, who was the chief figure in the Massie murder .- Rich. Dis.

A dispatch from Mingo Junction, O., says that the steamer Scioto, with about five hundred passingers on board, collided with the steamtug John Lomas in the middle of the river last night. The Scioto sank in fifteen feet of water. The Lomas was slightly disabled, and wont to work at once to save those on the unfortunate Scioto. This task was rendered easier by the bright moonlight, in simplifying the machinery. and no doubt many lives were saved from this reason. It is believed that the loss of life will not exceed twenty persons

Madame Adella made a balloon ascension from Oswego, N. Y., yesterday afternoon. She was carried out over Lake Ontario. After throwing out everything to keep her up, hoping to strike a current that would carry her back over the land she saw a tug on the lake apparently following her. She then opened the valve and came down in the water, about seven miles from land, clinging to the balloon. She was dragged through the water several miles, and was finally picked up in a very exhausted condition by a tug which was on the lake with an excursion party, about seventeen miles west of the city. She was in the water nearly an

At night there was a general illumination and a display of fireworks. A torchlight procession of 400 in line, with six bands, passed through the chief streets. The festivities closed with a collation to the visitors.

The Court of Appeals has granted a writ of supersedeas in the case of Oliver Hatchett, colored, convicted in the Circuit Court of Brunswick county last April of the murder of Moses Young, colored, sentenced to be hanged on the 21st of this month. Littleton Hatchett, father of Oliver Hatchett, was also convicted last April as accessory to the murder and sentenced to hang, but the case was subsequently brought before the Supreme Court on a writ of supersedeas, when the court decided that the evidence did not justify conviction.

It is said that another difficulty has occurred in the State Treasurer's office, in Richmond. Under the caucus appointment by the readjuster members of the Legislature, one of the clerkships, now filled from the Third District, has been assigned to the Sixth District, and a move has been made to vacate the present incumbent by sending him notice that his resignation would be acceptable, but this the holder of the position by prominent readjuster friends of each party to harmonize the difficulty.

LONDON, July 5.—Twenty thousand arms cidedly object to that part of the report that said "the club had to endure its monthly scold by its censor," as unworthy of publication, and hoped that nothing of the kind would again find its way into print. So said several others, the Secretary pro tem. alone defending the report.

The first reaper and binder used in this section by some of the members of the club. was used this harvest. They were called upon to give their opinion of the practical working of the machine.

C. Lukens said it cut a clean swath, and bound the grain in compact bundles about as fast as an ordinary reaper would cut it. There was no need of raking after it. He thought there was room for improvement

The question was asked, when is the best time to cut timothy grass? Some thought that it should be cut when in full bloom; others prefered to wait until the bloom was off and the seed well ripened before cutting. An article in the Agricultural Department of the New York Tribune was referred to as coinciding with their views.

This was the report by Professor J. W Sanborn, New Hampshire Agricultural College, of four years of careful trial, in which he found that cows feed upon timothy or clover hay cut in bloom or when coming into bloom, would give more milk than when fed upon later cut grass; but the later cut grass, when the seeds have formed, would. when fed to cows, produce more butter and keep the cows in bett r condition than when fed upon the earlier cut hay.

The wheat crop was reported as good, but the oats were badly affected with blight, the cause of which no one could discover. Some thought it was caused by the plant-louse that was seen upon the wheat, others had examined the roots of the oats and found them dried up or eaten, but could find no insects or worms that seemed to be the

A great many depredating insects and worms were reported as eating the corn, sweet potato, and tomato plants. The army had suddenly disappeared, having done but little damage except to about two acres of corn, and a corner of a field of grass on the farm of John Ballenger.

The secretary called attention to an experiment, how to keep butter sweet as related | me to perfect health. to him by a gentleman who owns a farm at Annapolis Junction, Md. This carefully observing, successful farmer, who formerly liva in the western part of the State of New York, said, when the price of butter was so low one summer that he did not think it Wm. Stephens, colored, present State paid to sell it, after carefully washing out all Senator from Greensville county, was in- the buttermilk in cold spring water he packthen spread a cotton cloth over the butter and poured melted lard on it so as to effectually exclude the air. The jars were set in a cool cellar and left there nearly two years when they were opened, and the butter found to be as sweet as the day it was put in. Salt was worked in and the butter sold for a "gilt-edge" price. The customers not knowing the age of the butter pronounced it the choicest kind, wanting more of it after it was gone. He accounted for the peculiar sweetness of the butter after so long a time, to the absence of salt, which would have diffused itself through the butter and imparted a stale taste. The great secret in keeping it so long was the entire exclusion of atmosphere, and uniform cool temperature.

Valentine Baker related an instance where a pumpkin was kept perfectly sound, fit for food, in open air two years, then made into

The advocates of no caps appear to be the most numerous giving many reasons why it was better to shock the wheat well by pressing the tops of the sheaves together and leaving them until they were stacked or threshed. All agreed however that the shocks should be left but a short time in the field to dry sufficient to stow away, so that the grass would not be killed beneath the

It was proposed that after the active labors of the harvest and having was over, an excursion should be taken down the Potomac on some steamer. On motion, a committee of three was appointed to make the necessary arrangements. The chair appointed N. W. Pierson, E. E. Mason and C. Lukens. CATTLE MARKETS. ALEXANDRIA CATTLE MARKET, July 5, 1882.

Prices to-day ranged as follows: Cattle-Very best.....

Cows and Calves 25a$50.

The market this week was well supplied with all kinds of stock. Cattle in good supply and of fair quality which sold readily at quotations. Calves in fair demand at slightly lower figures. Sheep dull. Lambs in fair supply and market brisk at an advance on last week's prices. Hogs nominal. Cows and Calves in demand for prime ones; com-

BALTIMORE CATTLE MARKET, July 3.—Beef Cattle.—Prices of Beef Cattle ranged as follows:
Best 8 00a$8 25; that generally rated first quality and provided the conditions of the Best 8 00a$8 25; that generally rated first quality 6 00a$7 00; medium or good fair quality 4 50a$5 75; ordinary thin Steers, Oxen and Cows 3 50a$4 00. Extreme range of prices 3 50a $8 25. Most of the sales were from 6 00a$7 00 per 100 lbs. Total receipts for the week 1436 head; total sales for the week 1158 head. Good Cattle this week were less numerous than last week, that is extreme tess numerous than last week that is extreme tess and for the week 1436 head. week, that is extreme tops, and on these there week, that is extreme tops, and on these there was no appreciable change since last week. Other grades of which there was a much longer line show a falling off in prices of \(^14a^16c\) as compared with last week's figures and the market was quite slow with all except the best Cattle.

Milch Cows.—Good Cows were scarae. Trade has been fair at 35a845 per head. Sheep and Lambs.—There has been a heavy increase in the receipts as compared with last week, and some improvements in the quality, as also in the trade, owing to prices in the East showing an advance. There have been free shipments, fally two-thirds going through, leaving but a limited supply to our butchers here. We made Sheep at supply to our butchers here. We quote Sheep at 3a5 2-5 cents, and Lambs at 4a74; cents, with an extra good lot for shipment at 7% cents per lb gross. Receipts this week 5879 head.

Hogs. There is a further advance in Hogs over the already high figures that have ruled for months past, and at the advance there is a moderate to good demand. The quality is, on an average, quite as good as it was last week. We quote at 10\(^1\)sal1\(^1\)q cents, with extra 11\(^1\)\(^1\)q cents, most saic; at 11\(^1\)11 head.
